APP DEVELOPER

CHILD BIRTH COORDINATOR

My friends always teased me for justifying my love of maths with excuses, but I hadn't ever thought about app development as a career.

I never had the right computer or equipment at home, so I'd spend nights in the library working on apps. I wasn't creative or persistent, so if there's something you want to do, keep going.

In many of the companies I've worked at, I've been the only female iOS App Developer. Don't risk coding. It's proved to be a female developer and getting to apply these skills every day is a dream come true.
