NEUROSURGERY

SUCCESS FOR ME ISN'T FAME OR FORTUNE...

Life looks very different to what I imagined when I was 15. My parents saw education as the key to breaking the migrant poverty cycle. They couldn't help me with English, but they could support me with my maths.

The perfection required in maths is a great training ground for brain, spine and nerve surgery. I still get mistaken for a nurse, pharmacist or admin staff by patients. The world is changing though, and more women are graduating from medicine now than 20 years ago.
