

I did more than a number

After almost 20 years in the music industry, I finally went back to uni to study maths after being talked out of it numerous times. Some people find it a strange combination, but it's really not as far fetched as it may seem. Music is mathematical and in